THE HUNGER OF CHILDREN.

All mothers are familiar with that everpresent hunger of the growing boy or girl.
It is different from any other hunger. It is a craving, gnawing demand that cannot wait until the bib can be fastened on.
This impatient, extreme hunger is the demand of the little system for nourishment to sustain its rapid growth. The thoughtless mother supplies this demand with the first thing at hand that will satisfy the child, that will appease the hunger.
The careful and thoughtful mother supplies the hungry child with such food as will give the nourishment that the little growing frame needs.

In the first place the child eats cake or ing frame needs.

In the first place the child eats cake or cookies or fruit or candy. In the other case the child is given Malta-Vita.

Malta-Vita is not in the ordinary sense an infant food. It is good for old ard young allike, whenever and wherever a palatable, nourishing food is needed. Children like it and it is good for them. If the little folks ate less of fried cakes and cookies and more of Malta-Vita, they, the little ones, would have fewer sick spells and the parents would have fewer doctor's bills to pay.

to pay.
Malta-Vita is a wheat product, thoroughly impregnated with the diastase of mait. It is cooked and semidigested. It is sold by grocers at 15c for a very large package, and is an ideal food for old and young, sick or well.

The display of Summer Goods at Barr's cannot fall to meet the fancy of the critical and economical buyer. The fabrics this ecason are delightful in design, and nowhere are they offered in such assortment as at Missouri's Greatest Store.

these Indians, incensed at the arrests and Muscogee, L. T., July 20.—The last of the 188 town lots were sold here to-day by the Townsite Commissioners, who have gone to Wagoner to conduct a sale at that place. Prices on town lots varied high, and as the sale proceeded continued soaring until before the last lot was sold the prices were unprecedented.

The Chamber of Commerce made a coup this morning by making a lump bid on reventy-five lots, the price being what the lots were appraised by the commission.

An announcement was made that the Chamber of Commerce would bid on the lots, and the citizens stood back and let them go without another bid. The lots comprise the right-of-way for the Ozark and Cherokee Central Railroad, through a part of the city for which the citizens have to pay by subscription. For this reason no other hids were made. The lots would have brought five times the appraisement price had they gone to individuals.

NEW EXPLOSIVE MAY REVOLUTIONIZE WAR

United States Government in Possession of Secret Giving Immense Advantage.

IS GUARDING IT CAREFULLY.

Claim Is Made That New Discovery Will Make a Shell Irresistible by the Heaviest Armor Manufactured.

The Republic Bureau, 16th St. and Pennsylvania Ave. Washington, July 30.-The army ordnance officers claim they have discovered a new explosive so powerful and, at the same time, so capable of control by a new fuse arrangement that they can make a shell irresistible by the heaviest armor manufactured. They believe they can penetrate any warship affoat and either blow her up or wreck her.

This announcement is made on the authority of an officer high in the ordnance office.

The claim is that the ordnance officers have discovered a fuse and a new explosive which admit of the heaviest rifle driving a steel projectile through the best armor made, at average fighting distance and un-der normal conditions which will not be detonated until the point of the shell is through the plate and inside of the backing along the ship's sides-

Secret Is the United States'.

No foreign Government has the secret of the fuse arrangement or knows of what the high explosive is manufactured.

For the present, at least, the United States Army has a secret which may revolutionize battleship construction and have a far-reaching effect upon the design of future ships of the navy.

General Crozier withholds carefully from the public the faintest lidea of what this fuse is like or what chemical properties are employed in making the explosion.

A feature of this discovery is the ability also of the heaviest-rifled guns to fire airmor-pletcing projectiles to the full limit of their range with the charge in the limer arrangement of the shell. The difficulty heretofore encountered has been to give a projectile sufficient velocity to have any effect on side armor before the charge was detonated and the shell exploded.

Will Pierce Fourteen Inches of Armor It is chimed that the state of the confidence of the charge in the liner arrangement of the shell. The difficulty here to force arrangement of the shell will be to fire air and the shell exploded.

Will Pierce Fourteen Inches of Armor It is chimed that the state of the confidence of the Secret Is the United States'.

and the shell exploded.
Will Pierce Fourteen Inches of Armor Will Pierce Fourteen Inches of Armor
It is claimed that this difficulty has been overcome and that it is no longer problematical, but that a twelve-inch gun has been fired at the best twelve-inch gun has been fired at the best twelve-inch armor plate manufactured and secured penetration with the shell containing the explosive.

General Crosler claims that the limit of penetration for a twelve-inch gun is probabily twelve inches of the best Krupp armor, but that a shell with the fuse device and containing the explosive would have such increased velocity as to carry a large part of the shell through at least fourteen inches of armor.

Briefly, he says that fourteen inches of armor may be penetrated by an explosive armor may be penetrated by an explosive shell whereas only twelve inches can be pierced by a projectile.

In explanation of the increased power of the explosive shell over that known as the armor-piercing and containing no explosive, General Crozier states that the high explosive remains quiescent in the shell until full penetration is attained; then the fuse detonates and this causes the point of the projectile to be huried forward through the jectile to be hurled forward through the remaining part of the armor. ELECTION AT THE CHAUTAUQUA.

At the end of the summer Marie Dressler, who is at the Suburban this week, goes back to New York for her sixth consecutive season. She had intended playing vau-deville dates and twenty weeks' work had been provided by her manager. Then came an offer from E. E. Rice for a production at the New York Theater. Rice, perhaps, didn't want Miss Dressler as much as the Sire brothers, who own the New York. She has been playing for them for years and they have unbounded faith in her name as a drawing card. So the Sire brothers told Rice he must get Miss Dressler. He demurred. Years ago she had deserted him on very brief notice. A three-cornered conference was arranged;

Miss Dressler and Rice made up, and the Sire brothers brought in notagles, who witneased the signing of the papers. The name of the new plece has not been made public.
